Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Chris Clor

Chris has spent his entire career as a visual communicator specializing in conceptual and product photography. In the early 90's he began experimenting with computer generated elements and has since incorporated CGI into his workflow on a routine basis. He has won numerous awards including the Communication Arts award for photography in 2012 and the 2013 One Eyeland Photographer of the Year award. His work has often appeared in the photographic press and he is sought after for interviews and speaking engagements at various universities and photographic associations.

A leading talent in photo illustration, working within the genre of conceptual, narrative, portrait, landscape and CGI rendering, Chris' recognisable style, professionalism and easy going personality make him a favorite with his clients. A strong sense of composition, lighting and colour results in high impact imagery for his clients.
