Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

Emo design (Lukasz Bertoli and Carlo Ciciliot) is comprised of a team of experienced specialists that have gained strong expertise within the creative industry at an international level. The studio develops a variety of projects in different field of the market focusing on a market-oriented approach able to use design research and creative expression as strategic tools for its clients. It works with the potential or existing value system of a company to create solutions aimed accurately at a specific market, allowing the clients to differentiate their offerings from those of their competitors. The approach to each project is driven by in-depth research into the behavior, desires and needs of the final user/consumer. Emo design believes that a proper use of the "design tool" provides a clear competitive advantage for any company while products get a clear and credible positioning in the market.
