Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

My artwork has two focuses; mixed media collage and landscape painting.

I have always used old maps in my collages and incorporated map inspired ideas into my art. In January of 2001, I experimented with a collage using only maps. The success of the experiment and the resulting piece changed the direction of my work. Much of the map work takes its inspiration from other traditional art forms using repetitive patterns, in particular quilts and other textiles. In 2009 the patterns used in my collage work started to take on a more painterly appearance.

In 2011 I spent the entire year creating a large-scale piece called the 2011 Project. Essentially I created a map of the year by making a piece of art on each and every day of 2011. The work is made up of 365 individual, mixed media pieces, each 4"x4" (10x10 cm) in size. Together, the 365 pieces are to be shown as an installation. In many ways the 2011 Project was also my sketchbook for future work. I experimented with new materials and subject matter for many of the 365 pieces.

A circular collage of various international banknotes and coins, arranged in concentric rings, creating a vibrant, multi-colored spiral pattern. The central part features a purple banknote, and the outer rings include notes from countries like the United States, the United Kingdom, and others, all overlapping to form a dense, colorful mosaic.
