SAM Magazine

SAM is an independent magazine dedicated entirely to London fashion. Appearing biannually at London Fashion Week, each issue focuses on the forthcoming season, allowing for comprehensive coverage of what's new.

I was approached to create a completely new and distinctive look for issue 5, handling all aspects of design and art direction from concept to print. The result has been received with great praise, and a firm nod of approval from industry heads.

Carola Euler

London menswear designer, Carola Euler, has gained great success since launching in 2005 where her collections are consistently stocked at London style emporium b Store. Showcasing at London Fashion week, her collections have been debuted at Fashion East/TopMan partnership event, MAN.

Working together since 2005, Carola and I continue to evolve the identity of her important and progressive menswear label. Covering all aspects of design and art direction, the identity rolls out through the website, seasonal lookbooks, garment tags and labels, press releases, and the current advertising campaign which launched at the exclusive Carola Euler "Luxury" event held at London's b Store, November 2007.

ASOS.com

ASOS.com is one of the UK's leading authority on celebrity fashion trends and most popular online fashion store in the UK. Ranked as one of the top two most visited on-line clothing stores in the UK, ASOS.com ships thousands of orders every day and continually wins industry awards year after year.

Working in-house and heading up the womenswear creative team, responsibilities have included a recent redesign of the site for Autumn/Winter 2008 incorporating ticker tape-style blog entries, extended photographic area and auto-rotating home pages.

Craft Publishing

ARCADE Magazine, published by London-based Craft Publishing, is the official publication of the Burlington Arcade, off Piccadilly in London. The title is aimed at new and existing consumers, providing an insight into the history and future of one of London's most favourite shopping arcades, and allowing arcade shops an extended selling tool.

I was appointed to work on the design concept and initial issue. Alongside respected UK Editor and Art director, Matthew Line, the aim was to produce a modern title that honoured and respected the tradition of the arcade.
