You can wait for a wildcard to the Australian Open. Or take the free shuttle tram.

There's an easier way to make it to centre court. If you have a valid Australian Open ticket, just take the free shuttle tram operating on Route 70 from Flinders Street to Rod Laver and Hisense arenas. This tram service runs all day and back into the city, until one hour after the end of play, including twilight and night sessions. For more information on services to the Australian Open, visit metlinkmelbourne.com.au or call 131 638.
