

Michelle Putman

Graphic Design
United States

View the full portfolio at <http://www.thecreativefinder.com/mmich101>

Professional Experience and Curriculum Vitae

I am a recent graduate from Austin Community College. I have an Associates in Applied Science degree specializing in graphic design. I have worked as a communication's assistant for a year and a half before I went back to school to learn more about my passion. I am currently available for freelancing or full-time work. I am quick on my toes, a fast learner, outgoing and personable. I love my kids and my dog and creating graphics. Contact me!

Previous Clientele

Please kindly get in touch for more information.

Awards and Accolades

MY RESUME

Awards and Accolades

Please kindly get in touch for more information.

Michelle Putman

Graphic Design
United States

View the full portfolio at <http://www.thecreativefinder.com/mmich101>

Supporting
Education
Through Reading

Table of Contents

Chapter
1 To Our Shareholders
2 Always in Touch
3 Committed to Our Communities
4 My Target
5 Financial Summary
6 Business Summary

At Target, a significant portion of our giving goes toward funding education, with a focus on helping more U.S. students read proficiently by the end of third grade. Through programs like Take Charge of Education and Target School Library Makeovers, and events like Read Across America, we're helping kids reach their full potential.

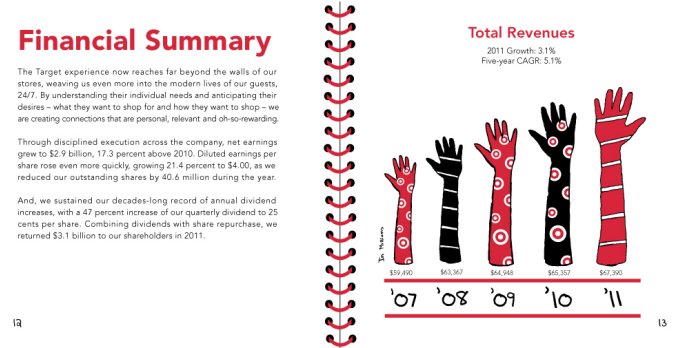

34

Michelle Putman

Graphic Design

United States

View the full portfolio at <http://www.thecreativefinder.com/mmich101>

Target Community Outreach

Volunteerism | Reading & Education | Arts & Culture | Social Services | Crisis Relief

Reading & Education

Reading Programs

Target School Library Makeovers
In partnership with The Heart of America Foundation®, Target team members have transformed libraries across the country.
More about School Library Makeovers

Book Festivals
Target sponsors many book festivals in Los Angeles and Washington, D.C., inspiring hundreds of thousands of children to develop a lifelong love of reading.
More about Book Festivals

Books for Schools Award
Our Target Store and Distribution Centers have donated thousands of books through a partnership with First Book.
More about our Books for Schools Award

With your help, and through partnerships with education and reading-focused organizations, we're on track to give $1 billion by the end of 2015 to support more of what kids and schools in your community need to read, learn and succeed.

At Target, a significant portion of our giving goes toward funding education, with a focus on helping more U.S. students read proficiently by the end of third grade. Through programs like Take Charge of Education® and Target School Library Makeovers, and events like Read Across America, we're helping kids reach their full potential.

Education Programs

Meals for Minds
Kids who don't get the proper nutrition have trouble concentrating in school. That's why, through a partnership with Feeding America, we help give K-12 students the food they need to succeed.
More about Meals for Minds

Target Store Grants
These grants support schools and other nonprofit groups involved with the arts and culture, and early childhood reading.
More about Store Grants

Target School Sense
We work with The Salvation Army to provide students in need with Target GiftCards and a shopping chaperone.
More about our partnership with The Salvation Army

Supporting Education Through Reading

